WebSoft would like to offer this letter of reference for Auriga, Inc. in support of their talent and experience as a software R&D provider. Auriga developed the prototype of the first-in-class mobile application for the distance learning market.

Auriga engineers demonstrated a profound level of knowledge, a deep competency in solving complex and non-trivial tasks, and the ability to serve as a real extension of our IT team, and they continually strived to understand and to realize the business objectives of the project.

Auriga helps us to ensure the high quality of our products and contributes to our excellent reputation. By delegating projects to Auriga, we accelerate the pace of development and the timing of our products' release to market.
